LEARNING FOCUS: DISEASES

Are you familiar with vectors? With this term, one might think we are in a math class, but this is not the case. We are in Mrs. Colleen Vincent's high school health classroom. The students' learning is focused on the understanding of the diseases transmitted through vectors and what students can do to avoid them!

Each day Mrs. Vincent's approach to teaching and learning centers around core philosophies. These philosophies focus on goal setting, having an attitude of gratitude, and building character. This methodology is transforming the way students approach learning, as well as everyday problems. This wonderful approach, to making a difference in our students' lives, is exactly why Mrs. Vincent is Coventry's Spotlight on Learning – Featured Teacher!
